

"How fortunate we were to find the House of the Rising Sun on the Internet and equally fortunate that you had space both in your home and in your lives for the two of us. Words cannot adequately convey how much we have appreciated your hospitality: wonderful breakfasts, sound advice, terrific recommendations and ever a friendly voice and willingness to adjust to our free form agenda. Thank you for sharing your historical knowledge and DVDs so that we could recognize the value of your beloved Algiers Point. We were so grateful that we began our stay grounding ourselves in the history of Algiers before moving across the river to explore New Orleans."
